
The ARCH

1959

Mina Loy

Thirty years ago our nation faced a seemingly inevitable upheaval—today we employ scientific principles for economic stability.

Thirty years ago the golden age of the Twenties was having its last glorious fling—today another "golden" age of diversified energies and strivings is evident.

Thirty years ago the first rocket engine flight carried a man aloft for 75 seconds—today supersonic jet airships circle the globe in hours.

Thirty years ago Commodore Byrd made the first flight over the South Pole—today atomic powered submarines cruise submerged between the two great oceans under the North Polar ice cap.

Thirty years ago the first ARCH was published—today we present the 30th edition.

KEYNOTE

The doors of life are of varying size, shape, material, and construction. Likewise the keys necessary to make these portals spring open and yield their treasures to the seeker are of different forms.

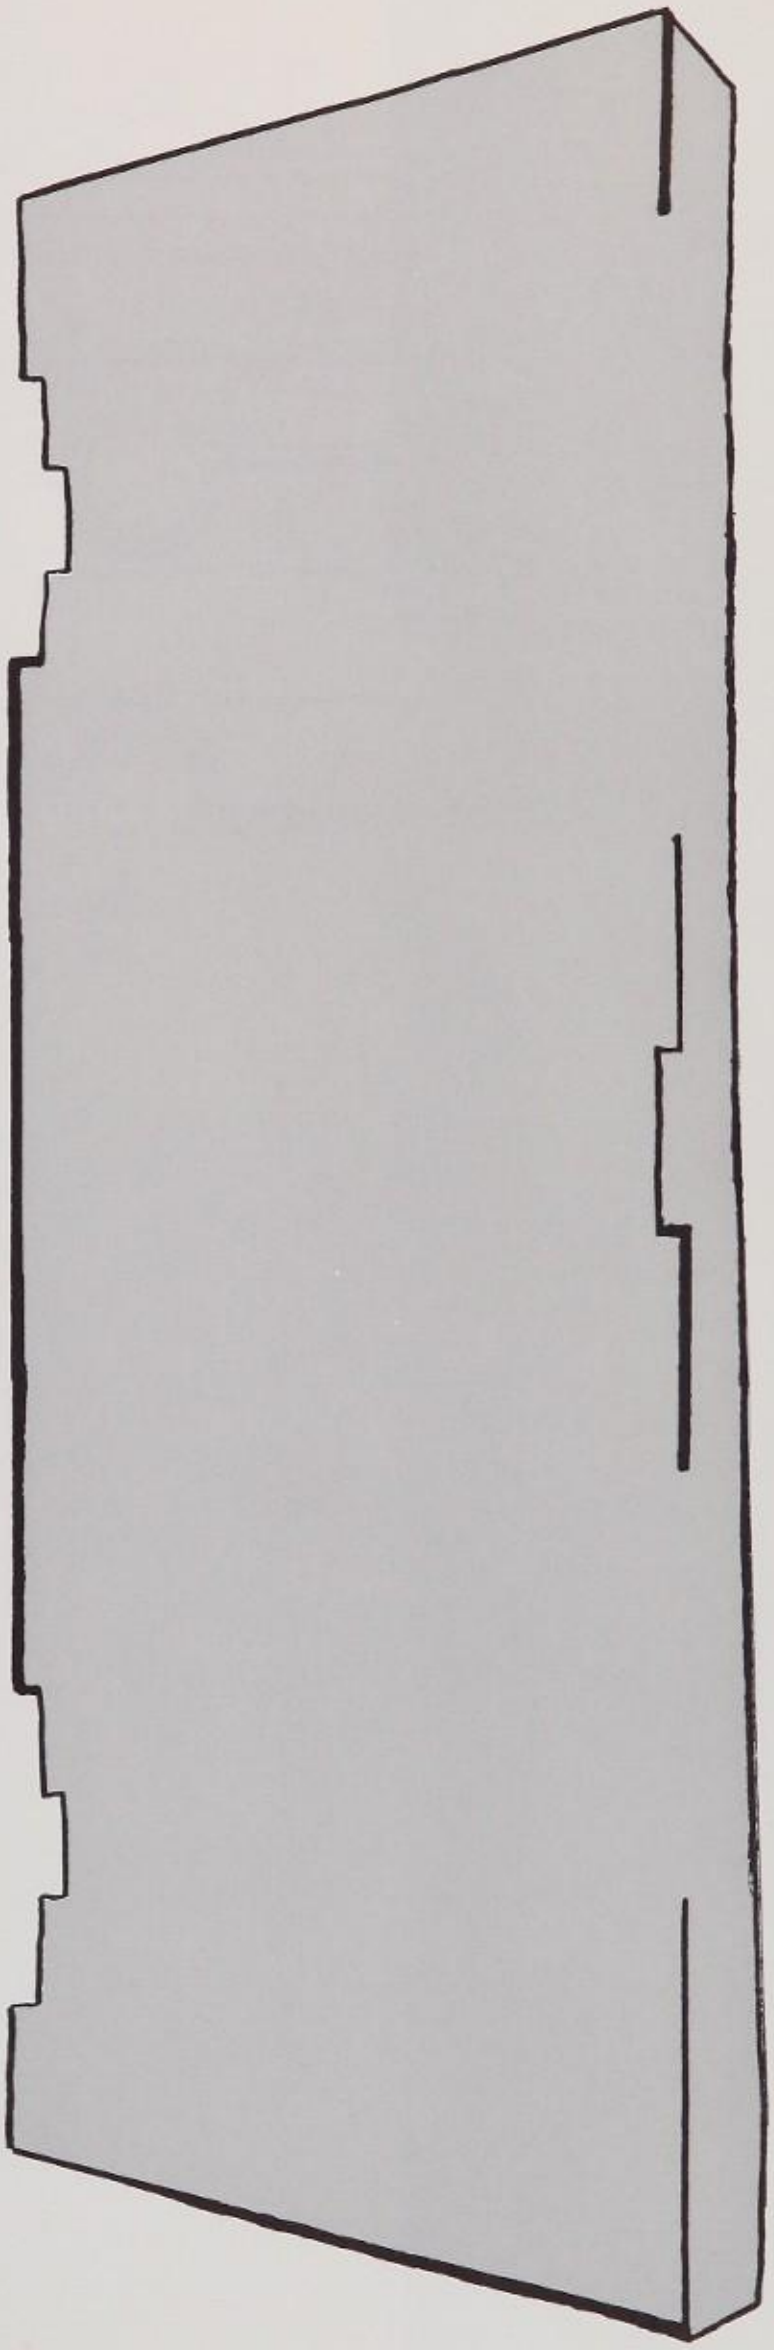
The door of Justice is one of oak-firmness and birch-liberality. Its complimentary key is the golden one of Truth.

The door of Happiness is constructed of bright rosewood and olive branches with an enamel finish of golden magnolia. The pass-keys are Tolerance, Love, and Patience.

The barrier between dreams of success and their realization is composed of hard knots, sharp thorns and enduring fir. Passage requires keys of Integrity, Honesty, and Constancy.

In a class by itself is the gateway of the future. Its doors are always open wide.

Here at Erasmus Hall we have traveled a long corridor and been ever aware of those panels and portals that we seek to enter. Overhead, guiding us, were lights that emitted rays of knowledge and discovery. Now that they have led us to the door of our hopes, all that remains is to use the keys that will grant us entrance.



Miss Mildred J. Cantwell

DEDICATION

Miss Margaret Cameron and Miss Mildred Cantwell have influenced our lives at Erasmus Hall from the moment when they greeted us as freshmen four years ago until graduation. They have guided and helped to mold the futures of thousands of students before us in the years which they have devoted to Erasmus Hall.

We shall long remember the help which these grade advisers gave us in planning our programs and selecting colleges. Their notes, sent to students who had achieved some goal, will long be cherished.

In a circular movement, they followed the pupils from the first year until graduation and then greeted

"And gladly would [they] learn and gladly teach."

GEOFFREY CHAUCER

freshmen again. This year, however, Miss Cameron is finally graduating. After depending on her and knowing her for four years, the Class of 1959 is both proud and happy to claim Miss Cameron as a member.

As a small token of our appreciation, we wish to dedicate this volume of ARCH to our grade advisers, Miss Cameron and Miss Cantwell.

Miss Margaret V. Cameron

TO THE CLASS OF 1959

Heartiest congratulations upon the successful completion of your high school course and best wishes for success and happiness to each one of you in the years ahead. Ascende fortiter!

When you leave here after Commencement, you individually will go into many different types of activity. Most of you will go to college, and from college and university on to professional life. Many will go directly to work, in offices and industrial plants of all sorts and varieties. Whatever you do and wherever you go, your careers will be really successful according to the degree in which you apply the lessons we of the faculty have tried to teach you in your course here: integrity of character, the development of the mind, respect for knowledge and learning, scrupulous honesty in all phases of one's life, hard work and perseverance in effort, cooperation with others, sympathy and understanding in our relationship with others, respect for the individual as a person, and devotion to the ideals of democracy. Your worth as an individual will best be measured not by the money you make or the eminence you achieve in whatever your life work is but rather by the degree in which you develop your full potentialities, by what you do with the powers you have within you.

Our success as teachers is measured by your growth in mind, spirit, and character. So we hope that your lives in the years ahead will be a rich fulfillment of the great promise you have shown here. Your class has won more scholarships, more honors than any other Erasmus Hall class I have known. You have been a fine loyal, hard-working group. May the years ahead be many and full of greater accomplishment and rich satisfactions and happiness. Looking back over a half-century in which I have seen the development of the automobile, the airplane and now jet aircraft, radio, television, electronics and the atomic sciences, one can not even hazard a guess as to what the next half-century — your lifetime — will bring forth. We can be sure that it will be exciting, and we know that each of you will play his proper part in the crucial years ahead if you hold fast to what you have been taught in your homes and in your schools. Our affectionate best wishes go with you.

May God bless you all and watch over you in the years ahead. May those years be many and full of all the things your hearts desire.

Sincerely yours,

John F. McNeill

ADMINISTRATORS

Arthur Chappell,
ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT

Miss Grace L. Corey,
ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT

Many students in our large and busy school were unaware of the problems that arose in making Erasmus Hall run smoothly. This job was undertaken jointly by Dr. McNeill's administrative assistants. Their concern was with our welfare and success. Although the administrators and their work were not known to all students, the cessation of it would have made the student body painfully aware of their indispensability.

DEPARTMENT CHAIRMEN

At the head of our school's many departments were individuals whose knowledge and personality commanded our highest respect. Their duties and responsibilities were great – they planned our programs and guided us in our classwork. Most important of all, however, was their wonderful ability to aid us in better understanding our studies. Those students who wanted to pursue further one of their subjects could depend on the respective chairman for encouragement and the tools necessary to reach their objectives.

Isadore Halpern,
COLLEGE ADVISER

While all of the faculty members have given us guidance and opened many doors in their various subject fields, it was a special few who rendered the most valuable help with after-school enterprises. Which college could and should we attend? What kind of employment would be best for us? Which of our skills and interests should we develop? These and many other problems we freely discussed with our advisers. Aid was not limited to direct connection with Erasmus Hall. Since the student body is an integral part of every school, all of our interests were served.

English

Having spoken American for so long, it was quite natural for many of us to be surprised that such a thing as the English language existed. A pleasant aspect of this revelation was that we were given the opportunity to explore the works of many fine British writers as well as Americans. From the crude levity of medieval ballads through the stark fatalism of modern novels, a language and tradition were revealed to us. Many of those among us who thought they lacked intellectual curiosity were amazed to find themselves in the midst of a discussion about a novel or poem.

Mrs. Winifred Moore checks the English assignment done by Susan Skollins, as Roy Harris adds the final touches to his.

Almost every period, students hurried to the research wing of the library to study, or relax with a good book.

Mrs. Grace Denman explains a phase of the assignment in literature as Diane Gutterman, Ira Bernstein, Marian Groner, Cynthia Fein, and Judith Berson listen attentively.

Language

It was during our senior year that the first American jet passenger plane made its record-breaking flight across the Atlantic Ocean, and a Russian rocket first passed the moon. This serves to emphasize the fact that in our world no one can afford to know only his native language. It was the teachers of our language departments, both in subject classes and in other activities, who endeavored to teach us a foreign tongue as well as to introduce us to another country's culture.

Students of French were not only taught the language, but learned of Gallic influences in our modern life, and those who desired to learn the Spanish tongue likewise became acquainted with the customs and people of Castile. German and Latin aspirants were made aware of the fine traditions complementing their respective languages.

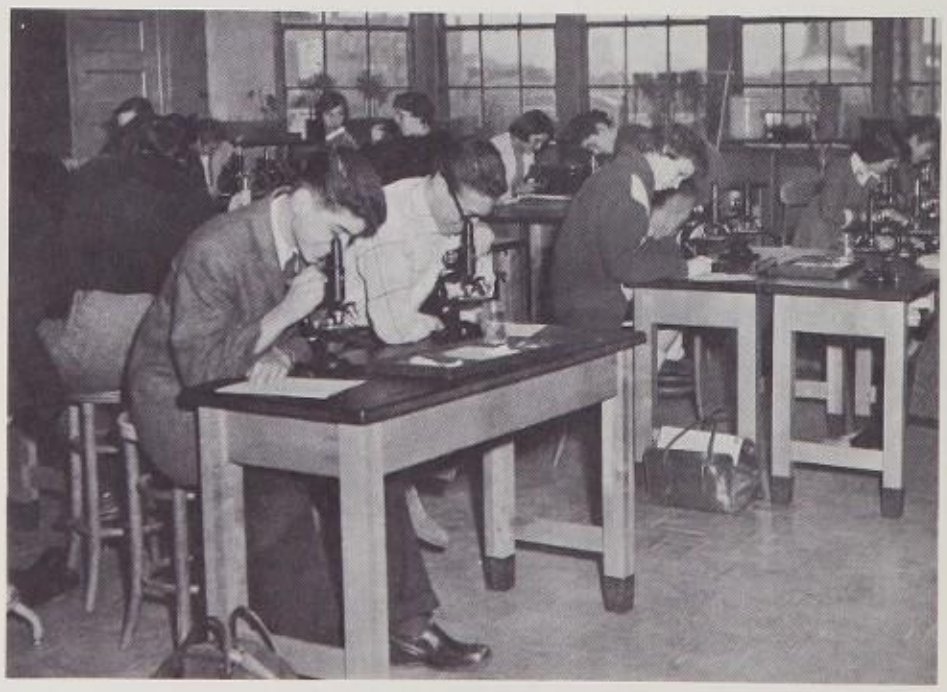
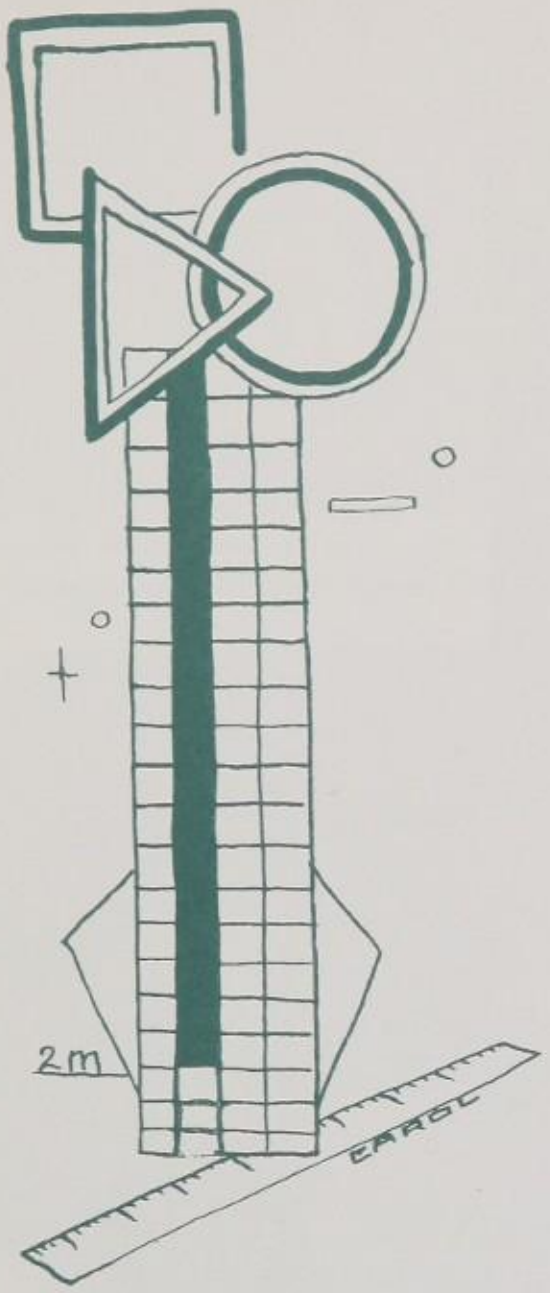
Science

Every student knows that it was a mere apple falling from a tree that was the immediate impetus for Isaac Newton's formulation of the theory of gravitational attraction. However the physics student is aware that there is more to the physical sciences than concussion-causing apples. In chemistry classes we waded through equations, elements and compounds. When we reached the physics classroom, we were greeted with a plethora of units—ergs, joules, dynes, and even one named for our friend—newtons. As if this weren't enough, college-level courses taught by Ellis Katzman and Isidor Lerner were offered to the adept . . . and all because Sir Isaac Newton preferred the shade to the sun.



Richard Olivo and Eliot Cohen, seated in the foreground, explore the world under the microscope in the zoology laboratory.



Mrs. Sylvia Somerman illustrates the slope formula to an advanced algebra class.

Since all sciences are dependent on mathematics, courses in this field were available to all students. These courses ranged from elementary algebra to calculus. From the numerous classes a selection was made of superior students who joined the math team class under the direction of Louis Moskowitz. Special periods were also set aside in which the members explored more advanced phases of mathematics.

Social Studies

Perhaps the most feared but best-liked subject we encountered was the fascinating world of history. The thought of scurrying through an impossibly long examination was counter-balanced by the irresistible lure of the past. Whether it was founding cities with the Phoenicians, or finding new worlds with Columbus, or solving deep financial problems with J. P. Morgan, we all found a place where we felt we "belonged." Summarily, our interests grew, and not even a stiff 55 minute final, taken in 40 minutes, could dim the luster of the story of the world.

THE ACADEMY

The Academy Building at the center of our quadrangle has long been memorable to Erasmians because it first housed the Old Grey School. Two years before the inauguration of George Washington, it was, according to the plaque:

> "... built by ... materials furnished by neighboring farmers. Alexander Hamilton, John Jay, and Aaron Burr contributed to its construction fund."

On May 2, 1958 the Old Academy was hallowed as an historic building, and the plaque was unveiled by Dr. John F. McNeill and the Rev. Russell Cruikshank of the Dutch Reformed Church.

G.O. Officers Philip Satow, Harriet Gellin, and Carol Rogoff participated in this dedication ceremony. They were introduced to dignitaries, the faculty, and the student body by Dr. McNeill, and they briefly addressed the group assembled on the campus. They acted as ushers and commodores of friendly greetings to the officials who had come to view the dedication.

Dr. McNeill spoke of school history. In a reference to the present concern with juvenile delinquency, he read a directive from the annals of the Academy: "No gaming or card playing on school grounds; no setting off firearms or firecrackers, and no visits to the local taverns on Flatbush Avenue without the permission of a teacher."

It was indeed an unforgettable event in the logs of Erasmus Hall and in the memories of the students who were present.

THE GENERAL ORGANIZATION

Under the guidance of John P. Campana, our G.O. effectively continued the work of an historic school organization, established in 1897. At that time, it was probably the only organization of its kind in the United States. Its 400 members paid twenty-five cents in dues. Changing times have increased membership ten fold and dues to fifty cents semi-annually. Also illustrative of changes are the election of officers by the entire student body, rather than a delegation composed of two from each class.

The responsibilities of our G.O. were varied. It sponsored the Student Assembly and all of our athletic teams; organized the Student Guidance Committee and inaugurated informal, after-school dances.

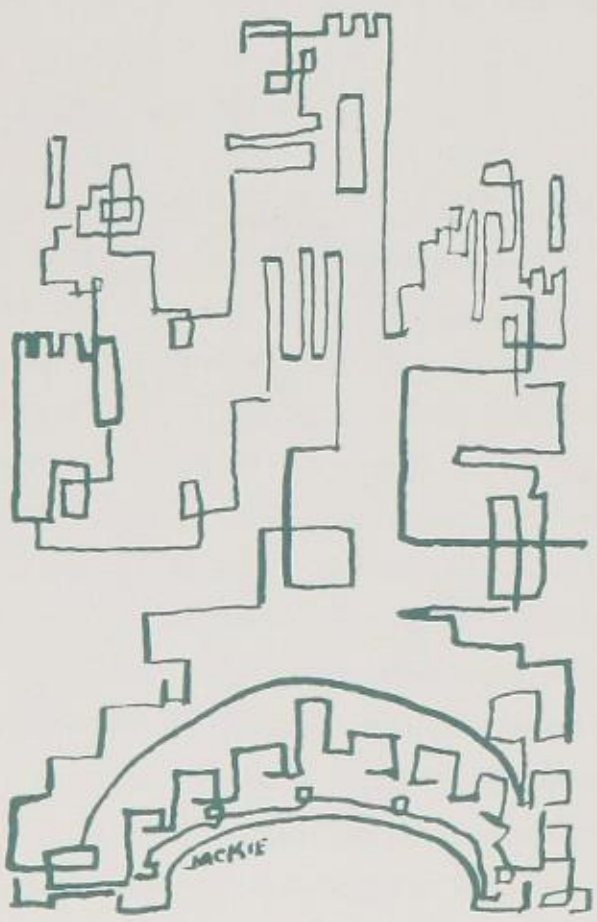
STUDENT COUNCIL



Student Council represented the combined legislative and executive branches of student government at Erasmus Hall. Meetings of this group were held bi-monthly, and both teacher and student members discussed important matters for the benefit of the Erasmus community. The leaders of all school clubs and organizations participated on the Council in an attempt to improve our school by increasing physical facilities and student participation programs.

Student Council carried on many functions unknown to some of the student body. For example, it was the job of the Student Council, with the assistance of the school treasurer, to allot yearly funds for the operation of our school's departments. Even our Buff and Blue Day Dance, held on December 19, would never have taken place without the aid of Student Council. One of our most successful extravaganzas of the year 1959 was the Sing. This exciting musical competition required conscientious preparation by Council members.

Therefore, we owe the Student Council a vote of thanks for having created some of the most wonderful memories of our years at the Old Grey School.

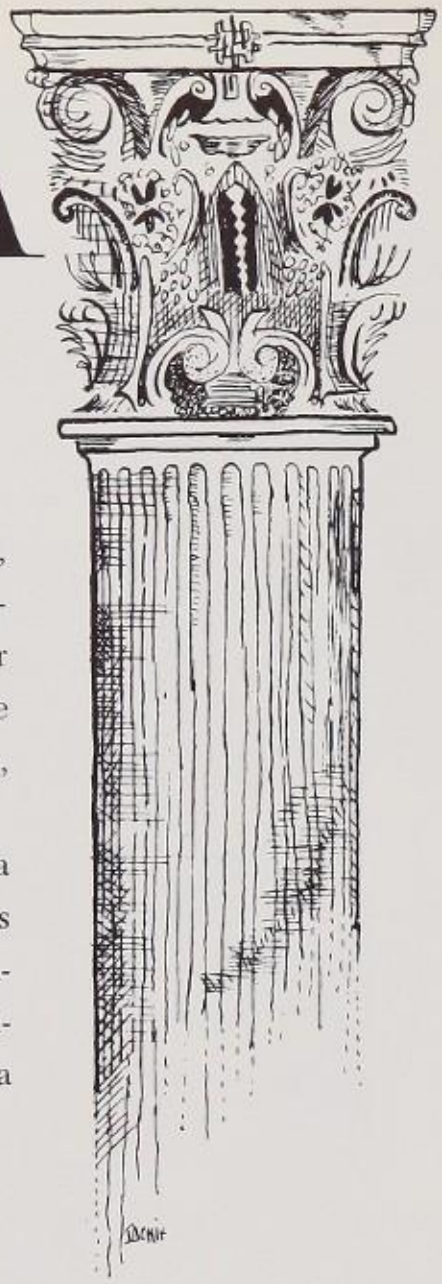
ARISTA



As the honor society of Erasmus Hall, Arista has opened the door to recognition for outstanding students for nearly 50 years. There are three keys to the door of Arista: scholarship, character and service.

Since its inception in 1910, Arista has been a symbol of the ideals toward which students strive. Sincerity, loyalty, helpfulness and efficiency are qualities demanded of Arista members.

Mathematics, for some of us, was a key to the world of science because of its emphasis on logic. Others enjoyed this world of theories and numbers for itself, with no other use in mind. XYZ is the mathematics honor society for the students, and those who were members offered free tutoring. The weekly feature occurred Friday afternoon when the society gathered to hear a guest lecturer.

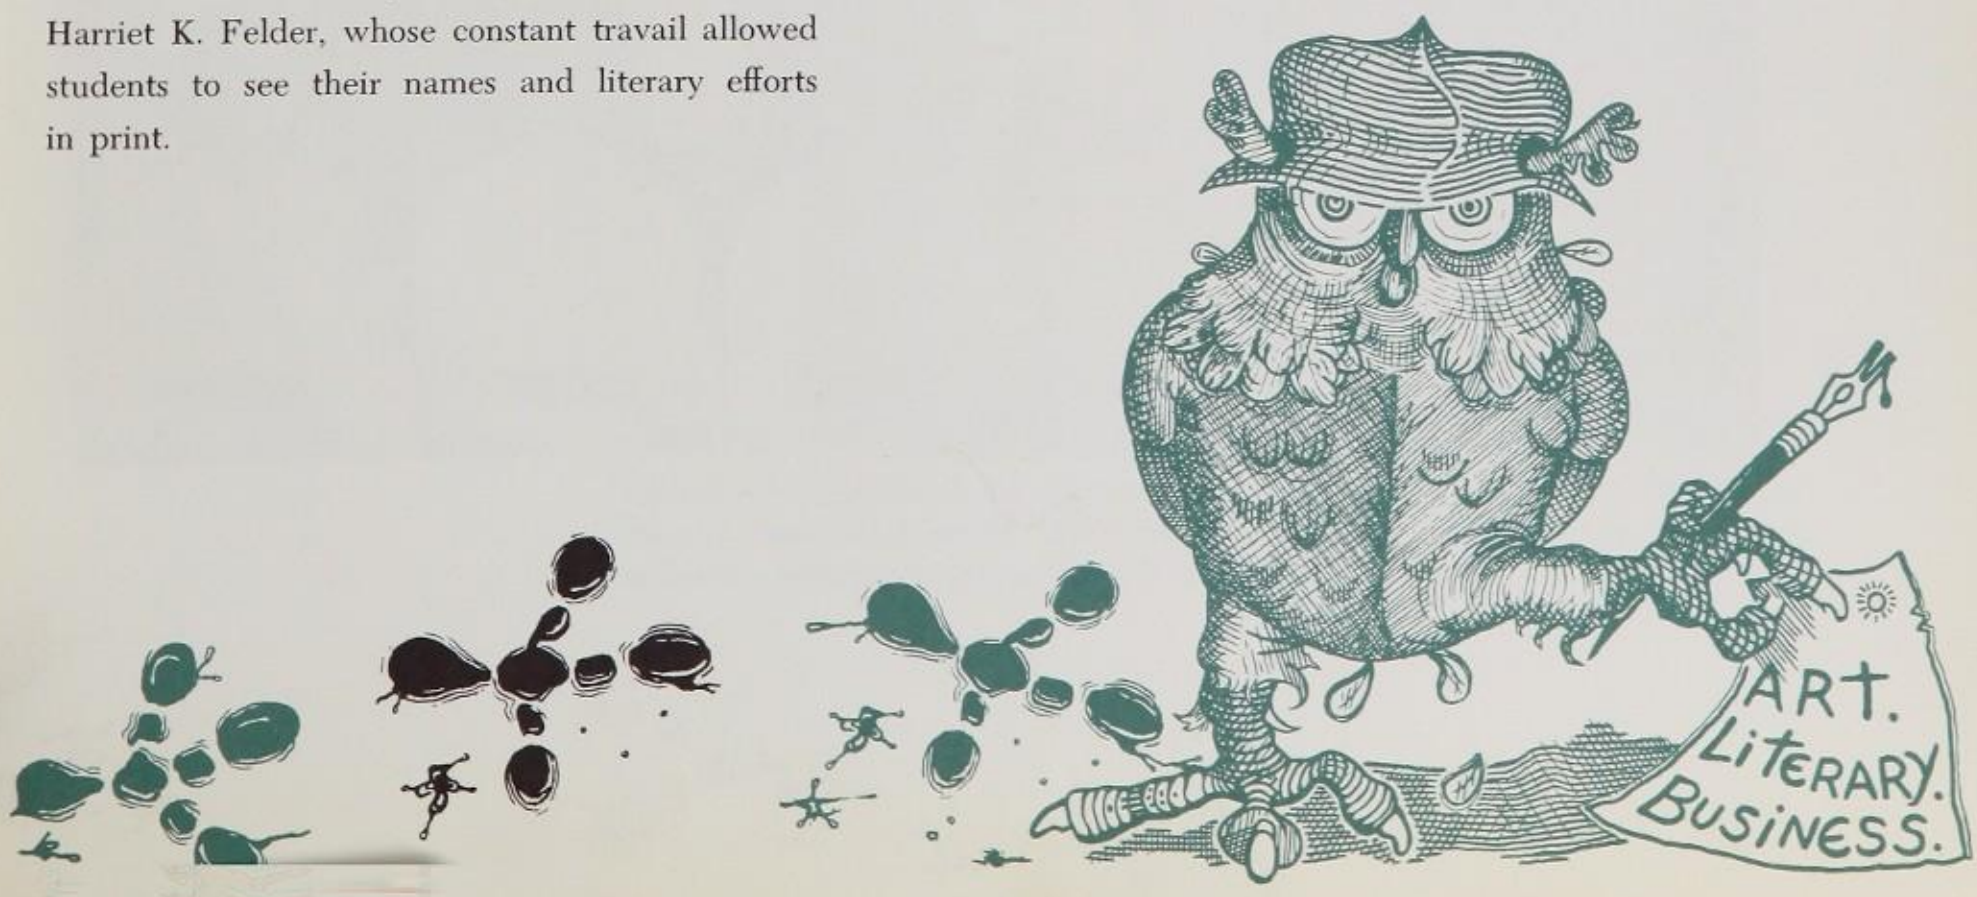
To read any issue of The Erasmian, a biannual publication of the English Department, was to gain insight into the thoughts and feeling of our contemporaries and to know better their aspirations, ideals, and problems. While many Erasmians submitted short stories, essays, poems, and illustrations, only a few of us were able to have the distinction of seeing our work appear in this fine publication. The staff of The Erasmian was ably aided and abetted by Mrs. Harriet K. Felder, whose constant travail allowed students to see their names and literary efforts in print.

Who? What? When? Why? Where? How? If the answer concerned Erasmus Hall we read it in The Dutchman, our school's prize-winning newspaper. Monthly issues furnished us with information about current activities as well as items of interest concerning the life of our school. The paper's staff was selected from an English class in journalism conducted by Miss Erna R. Fleischer.



WESTINGHOUSE WINNERS

Each year, through the National Westinghouse Science Talent search, seniors throughout the country have an opportunity to display their scientific talents and discoveries.

From the thousands who entered, 427 were selected as members of the honors group and 40 won trips to Washington, and were able to compete for the top scholarship awards.

BIOTA

Aspiring biologists, as well as others interested in the world of microscopy, had an opportunity to exchange scientific ideas in Biota, our biology annual.

Fascinating accounts of Westinghouse projects and student experiments were included. To enhance the articles were cartoons and poems. In accordance with the other Erasmus publication, contributions were accepted from all grades.

PAPYRUS

Papyrus is an annual publication produced under the direction of Bernard Goldenberg. XYZ members write the articles, puzzles, and problems that are published; but all of us recall reading them with interest, whether we were still puzzling over elementary algebra or mastering the fundamentals of calculus.

Papyrus: Editors Stephen Smith and Peggy Berman.

MARIANNA

Marianne, a new French publication, appeared on the scene this year under the direction of Mr. Sidney Levitan, chairman of the department. It is a publication of a different sort, personal and informal. It gives profiles of some of our favorite French teachers. Hints and clues are included about others, making the student guess who's who. Written entirely by students, it is a delightful paper for all readers.

Christmas Concert

Mr. Cosimo DePietto leads the Choral Club in a Christmas carol. Mr. Charles Johnson accompanied the group on the piano.

Music is to the soul what art is to the eye. The Music Department of Erasmus Hall demonstrates sensitivity to both at the Christmas and Spring Concerts. Although every student was acquainted with classical music in the classroom, the events that stand out most clearly were these two concerts.

With Cosimo DePietto leading the Choral Club, Joseph Albertson directing the Boy's Glee Club, Miss Caryl Segerstrom supervising Cantata, and Sidney Bowden at the helm of the Orchestra, sounds pleasing to the ear and groups pleasing to the eye were presented during each school year. Future visits to Erasmus Hall will certainly, in part, be to view these elaborate spectacles once more.

Sing

After having taken a year's Sabbatical, Sing returned to Erasmus Hall to be greeted by literally thousands of enthusiastic students. Under the capable direction of Joseph Albertson, each grade, with the aid of two or three senior advisers, put forth a production worthy of acclaim. School spirit was given a boost by the inter-grade competition, whose participants ranged from the youngest freshman to the oldest senior.

Commissioners of Sing: Carol Rogoff, Philip Satow and Harriet Gellin.

BASKETBALL

In our senior year we were athletically represented by one of the finest quintets in the history of Erasmus basketball. Under the inspiring leadership of co-captains Lew Freifeld and Bob Sommer, and the astute tutoring of Coach Bernie Kirsner, our hoopsters compiled a 19-3 record which was quite an improvement over last year's 10-10 slate.

The season was an exciting one, highlighted by a thrilling home and home duel with arch-nemesis Wingate. In the first bout, at Wingate, Lew Freifeld's 28 points were not quite enough to offset the output of the Generals' Wynn and Brown, and the Dutchmen succumbed, 67-65. At home, our team, led by the fine play of Freifeld and Joel Yoselowitz, avenged their previous loss in an unbelievable 71-70 encounter, thus ensuring a tie for first place in their division.

In the P.S.A.L. championship playoffs, the Dutchmen reached the semi-finals, defeating unbeaten Morris (58-52) and highly-regarded Jefferson (55-47) along the way. Opposing George Washington High School in the consolation game for third place Erasmus prevailed, 89-63, and ran up the highest score in the tourney.

When the time came for players to be selected to fill berths on various all-star teams, Erasmus cagers placed extremely well. Freifeld, Yoselowitz, and Johnny Pelkaus were chosen on many of the ballots sponsored by local papers.

Not to be outdone by the veterans, the Junior Varsity fought their way to a 9-1 season. High scorers for the young Dutchmen were Ronnie Snow and Bob Lawrence.

It was indeed a rewarding season for both teams and their followers.

FOOTBALL

As early as the first game, when the Dutchmen squeaked through with a one-touchdown triumph, it became apparent that this team did not measure up to last year's City Champs. However, the Buff and Blue, competently led by all-city stars George Wichelns and Dan Kaufold, performed well and forced some of the best teams in the city to work for their victories.

The year's zenith was the annual Midwood game, which saw an inspired Erasmus eleven upset the favored Middies. The nadir occurred when the team started losing and it became evident that some Erasmians were fair-weather fans.

TRACK AND FIELD

Despite stitches, charley-horses, pulled muscles, and blisters, the Erasmus harriers and sprinters enjoyed an excellent season. In the City Championships held in October, with cross-countrymen from a score of schools competing, our roadmen crossed the finish line in fifth place.

Not heeding Lincoln's policy of "Don't change horses in the middle of the stream," a coaching switch was made in February. Coach Mel Heichman, who did such an excellent job with the Fall team, was called to do his Army stint. He was replaced in mid-season by Coach Joel Kass, who produced a fine group of runners, such as hurdler Melvin Moskowitz (opposite), to represent us in the Spring.

°League games

The 1959 Erasmus baseball team was an extraordinary aggregation. Not only was there an abundant supply of lettermen and agile new-comers, but there was an unusually large supply of captains. In every one of the sixteen regular season games, a different veteran led the team.

A talented group of athletes, the Dutchmen were considered strong contenders for borough honors. Highlighting the season were two games with arch-rival James Madison, in which our diamond representatives tried to reimburse the Highwaymen for an 11-inning 4-2 defeat last year.

SWIMMING

Taking advantage of a renovated pool and new diving board, the Erasmus mermen completed their most successful season in recent years as they vanquished eight opponents. Led by Captain Alan Sweedler, and tutored by Coach James Ryan, the squad showed a lot of heart by pulling out several close matches. In the season's finale our swimmers came from behind to nose out a strong and favored Madison team, 36-34.

In keeping with the feeling of this being the "premier" class, the P.S.A.L. changed the composition of tennis matches for the first time within memory. Our was the first team to play in meets consisting of three singles and two doubles matches. It was also the first team to have three co-captains, Richard Friedlander, Michael Gastman, and Fred Sierles. The racqueteers, under Coach Al Badain, smashed their way to another season of championship-calibre.

Coach Mal Shanman summed up this year's soccer fortunes: "This was the best season we've had in years." Although plagued by injuries, the 1959 Booters had secured the runner-up spot in their division by the half-way mark of the season. George Bednarczyk, twice all-city forward, lived up to his reputation by scoring twenty-one goals. Captain Johnny Holst, Reggie Grossman, Harvey Farber, Mike Cohen, Lawrence Gallagher, and Eddie Wortheimer also performed well during the season.

BOWLING

The Erasmus Keglers, defending Division II bowling champions, made a successful defense of their laurels this year. Led by Captain Stan Roth, and supervised by Coach John Campana, the team compiled an outstanding 9-1 record. Carried by the momentum of a fine year of bowling, Junior Irving Becker, Captain-elect for next year, climaxed the season by capturing first place in the Brooklyn Borough Bowling Championship.

GIRLS' SPORTS

During gym periods, girls engage in sports such as volleyball as part of their athletic training.

At the turn of the century, participation in sports for girls was not nearly so evident as it is today. But the Girls' Health Education Department opened this door to its feminine ranks. The first physical education teacher was Mrs. Katherine Edgell, who joined a comparatively small staff in 1906, and helped equip Gym 57 in the basement for girls' activities. At this time physical activities were considered a privilege, and the first sport, basketball, was limited to members of the senior class.

Several years later, Miss Kate Turner brought back accounts of a new, extraordinary game being played in England–field hockey. That sport was introduced to American high schools in Erasmus Hall, and letter awards, the first of their kind, were presented to girls for recognition of athletic achievement. Today intramural hockey is still played in beautiful park surroundings, and other activities now are softball, badminton, bowling, and swimming.

Since its inception in 1932 by Miss Anne McGlue, the Leaders' Club has aided the Girls' Health Education Department. The girls demonstrate good sportsmanship, poise, and ability to control people. Our leaders of today are the leaders of tomorrow.

BOOSTERS

Spirit

Inspired by the rhythmic chanting of "Vivo, Vivo, Ves"—which by the way is not an advanced form of Pig Latin—and an occasional "Come on Erasmus letssssss Go" our school athletic teams are often spurred on to victory. The voices responsible for such spirited enthusiasm belong to the Boosters, Twirlers, and Cheerleaders, three fine organizations devoted to arousing school spirit. If the success of these groups were to be measured by the attendance at Saturday morning football games, thumbs would have to point downward. True, attendance is increased by their presence, but too often these lively students perform during half-time for wooden benches and a smattering of ultra-loyal Erasmians. You can imagine the tremendous response! Funny, though, Gym 125 is more than filled to capacity during the basketball season. (It's warmer inside.) Guess the only solution is an indoor football field. Suggestions anyone?

CHEERLEADERS

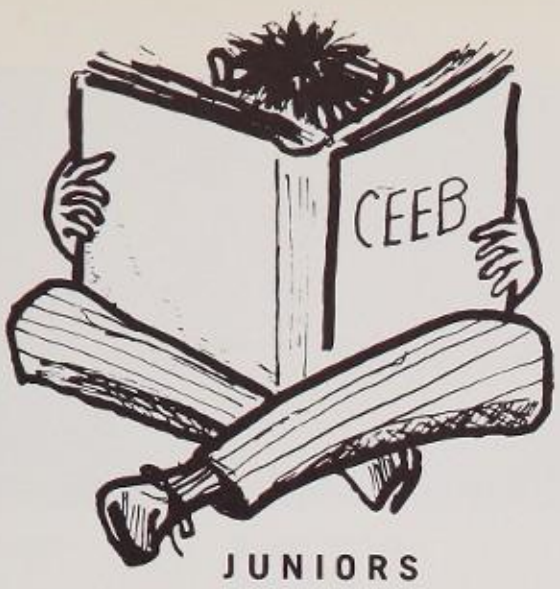
The key slips into the lock; a few hundred innocent adventurers enter the portals; massive walls, endless corridors, campus dipping below the horizon. Tiptoe in; friendly, eager faces greet frightened newcomers, "Would you like an elevator pass – only 50c?" "Pssst! I got a broker who's got an inside tip on hot gym spots!" Lowest of the low; continually reminded of same, "Wait 'til I'm a senior." Dating problems, "Wait 'til I'm a senior." Diligence, hard work, always on the run, "Wait 'til I'm a senior." First winter at Erasmus; dungeon-drab, dingy, dirty – sense of being lost in cold dark halls. Spring; thawing out of school and feelings toward school. Pleasant weather causes scholarly neglect. Names, rooms, and places become familiar just as school ends, "I can tell you from experience that . . .", "Wait 'till those Junior High kids come in!" The calm before the storm.

SOPHOMORES

The ranks are swelled by volunteers entering from junior high. Drab hallways, massive walls, verdant campus. Initial problems confront new Erasmians: "They gave me history!", "I don't know anyone in my classes," "Should I get an office job?" Book receipts, homework. After a few weeks, adjustment! "Well, 235 is in the Bedford building," "Did you see the cute kid in the second row in math?" Imre Nagy is "elected" premier of revolution-torn Hungary; elections come to Erasmus, chalk on the blackboard, "Hey, I picked three winners!" The gridiron; Dutchmen finish fast winning last five. Thanksgiving; turkey and first official vacation from school. Return; tests, "I didn't have time to finish." Hoopsters invade life; packed gyms, noise, boosters screaming "E-H-H-S." Snow falls on campus, watching flakes instead of teacher. Scarfs, frostbitten noses. Christmas concert. Great vacation. Finals! "How was question three?" Regents week; joy of watching others take tests. Back to school, veterans of a term; new term, new teachers, old friends. Mad bomber caught! "Why couldn't he have planted one here?" Billy Graham campaigns to free New York City from sin as Erasmians work to clean school. Ezio Pinza dies; spring concert; dates, beautiful setting, crashing cymbals, harmonious voices. June on campus; trees in bloom, airs of carefreeness and carelessness; some get down to business, "It's the third third that counts." Weeks of idleness. Regents; three hour sweat baths, nervous writing, sighs of relief, "Miss –– gave tougher tests than this." Report cards; the jocund and the jocose, joy and fear. Season perks up thoughts and hopes, "Good year but I could have done better," "It's tougher than Junior High," "Wait'll next year."



JUNIORS

The doors re-open; the rise of the middle class; superior to sophs, inferior to seniors. Reunion after separation. Small talk, "Have a nice summer?", "Susie had a nose job – she looks great!" Program cards; new teachers, old classmates among the new. Wheels of industry turn, a most important year; college boards in May. "I started studying already." Giants and Dodgers leave town, wake, forgotten as Dutchmen hit pigskin again, good turnouts, cold, nippy weather, good team, finish six and oh. Sputnik soars in space; pall of gloom, incessant talk of poor education, nothing done, school life continues. Integration flare-ups in Little Rock; no trouble here, makes you proud. First thoughts of college, "When should I send for applications?" "What about early admissions?" Winter sets in, usual campus depression; halls wet with snow, students wet and uncomfortable, returning home under whiplash of hail. Christmas; recuperation, noble resolutions. The returns; finals, regents, report cards, "This is getting serious," "I've got an 83 average overall; how can I bring it up to a 95?" Rains of March and April, stretching and yawning, desire to get outside, thoughts of college stimulate work. Spring breaks through; breezy homework nights, neglect; taking long walks. Suddenly – boards, "I hardly studied at all," "If I do well, do I have to take senior boards?" Thumbnails slitting seals, tests, mingled curses and sighs. Spring concert; month of relaxation; marks deteriorate instead of rise; worried and puzzled faces. Regents; more worried and puzzled faces, some less so. Report cards; surprises and disappointments, "I deserved more than that!" "Well, whadya know, she passed me." Board scores; airs of superiority and inferiority; letters to colleges. Two more months of relaxation; "I'll really work next year"; "It looks like Brooklyn for me."

SENIORS

The doors open once more; noses high, superior beings stride forward. Usual programs, usual comments, an air of complete familiarity. Many holidays, little work, less exams. Sudden finals; the who-cares attitude. College applications bury grade advisers, "I think I'll hand all of mine in together." Football season starts; becomes evident we're not titans of last year. G.O. elections; speeches, poster, pressures, personalities, election day. Intense studying for boards, "These count," "What do you need to get into Squeedunk?" Thanksgiving; a vacation for all but the turkeys. Back to school, last third cram, preparations for graduation. Christmas concert, "Better than ever before." Luxurious last winter vacation. College boards, varied comments, ecstatical, somber. Feverish spring term begins; work for departure from school but little industry seen in classrooms. Snow melts; Seniors are flooded by end term odds and ends such as sneaking in finals between parties. Last month, bright sun, absolutely no work, relaxing at beach. Caps and gowns, rings, plans for graduation night, and "Regents?" Finally, graduation; the doors open, solemn citizens march down paths surrounding a blooming campus. Speeches, diplomas, choral ensemble, "Erasmus all our hearts to thee," awards, congratulations, a final burst of pent-up joy. Graduates pass under arch. The doors of Erasmus close, but do not lock.

Afterthoughts

IN THE FUTURE...

- XYZ meetings will have brief lectures
- Garfield's will raise the quarter minimum
- There will be one editor-in-chief on Dutchman
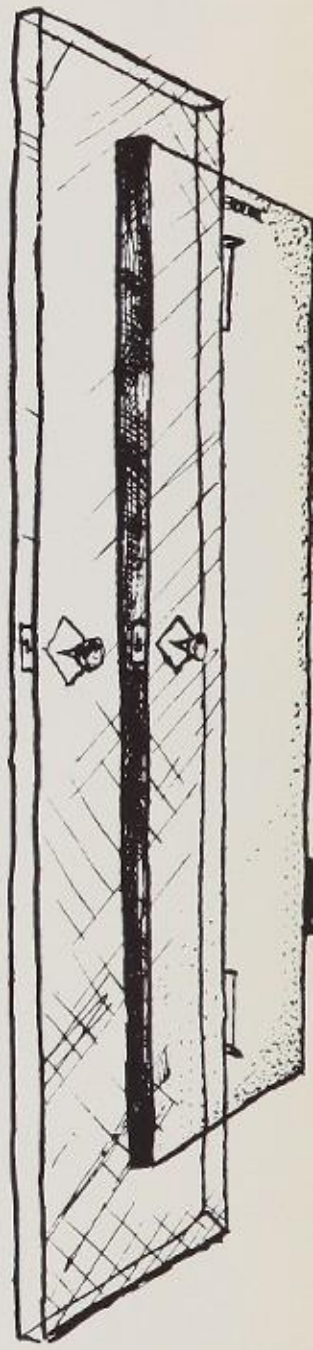
- A senior class will win Sing
- Kayne Studios will center their graduation pictures
- Spring classes will be held on the campus
- All doors will be opened by electric eyes
- Mr. West will find his niche
- There will be a course in creative typing
- There will either be escalators to the 5th floor—
  or no 5th floor
- Gringo Press will be required reading



TIME CAPSULE

On June 1, 1959 a time caspule was buried in front of the Academy Building to be opened on June 1, 2059. We hope the items will present a clear picture of contemporary Erasmus life.

Items Included:
One Bazooka fortune
One pair of girls' black tights
One pair of scuffed sneakers with plaid laces
One used copy "You Can Win A Scholarship"
One plan of the school library
One Barron's Regents' answer book
One uncorrected, correction sheet
One application for College Board Aptitude Test
One easy question with one easy answer
One girls' gym suit sans belt
Three college decision cards
One copy of Arch

WHAT HAPPENS TO THE PENNIES

A question that occurs to most students after the anxiety of Regents' Week has passed is: What becomes of the pennies? (Some students are so thankful to pass the regents that they think it is sacrilegious to ask this question.)

The money which falls between the pages of Desi's book is used for the direct benefit of the Erasmian population. The following is a list of committees which have been set up with the funds for that purpose:

Desi Exchange Student Program—A cultural exchange of students from different parts of Brooklyn.

Crusade for the re-styling of girls' gymsuits.

The DESC (Desi Securities and Exchange Commission)—created to study the possibility of forcing Garfield's to reduce the minimum charge to fifteen cents.

Desi College Scholarship Program—A fund set up to give financial aid to students who otherwise would not be able to afford a college education. The eligibility requirements are as follows:

(1) Son of a Hindustani highjumper who plans to study metaphysics at Harvard

(2) Basketball scholarship for the son of a pygmy.

The scholarship is awarded on the basis of school record, college board scores, citizenship, and a competitive essay on "Desiderius Erasmus as a Humanist and a Human."

There is no reason to doubt that the success of Desi's organization will continue, for as his slogan goes: "Money is our most important profit."

WE HEAR ERASMUS SINGING

The following songs are bravely dedicated to the members of our faculty.

Mr. Rohrberg . . . . . "No, No, A Thousand Times No, I'd Rather Die Than Say Yes"
Mrs. Dorney . . . . . "Tip-toe Through the Tulips"
Mr. Berg . . . . . "I'm an Ordinary Man"
Dr. Wedeck . . . . . "Once In Love With Julius"
Mr. I. Rubin . . . . . "Time on My Hands"
Mr. Shanman . . . . . "You Must Have Been a Beautiful Baby"
Mr. Reynolds . . . . . "Take Me Out of the Ball Game"
Mr. Millela . . . . . "76 Trombones"
Mrs. Moore . . . . . "Bewitched, Bothered and Bewildered"
Faculty . . . . . "Who Wants to be a Millionaire"

Dear Mim,
Ellen we met '33 neither of us knew the adventures, changes, etc., we'd go through together. Every minute of it has been wonderful. Every moment of the good + bad + it's a check on the good the right side that we got over the bad. May you always be Dreamer, May your Every Dream Come True
Always
Lydia

Dear Mim,
Bon Chance
Love Tony
